

Pac-12 Men's Basketball Future Scheduling Dates

Reminder: we have established September 1 as the goal to have a final Conference men's basketball schedule, including complete television information.

Non-conference schedules are due to the Conference (Duane Lindberg) by June 1.

We will ask the Pac-12 Directors of Athletics to approve the Pac-12 men's basketball schedule sometime in June. This schedule would show the games in a Thursday-Saturday format and would allow the institutions to know the weeks they are at home and on the road and who their opponents would be each week.

Subsequently, work is done with the Pac-12 television partners (ESPN, FOX and Pac-12 Networks) and the amended schedule is completed with television selections and telecast windows (i.e., games moved to Wednesdays and Sundays for television).

Hopefully, by late August, the amended schedule (including all television information) is provided to the Pac-12 Directors of Athletics for a one-week review (Monday-Friday). If necessary, a conference call would be scheduled to discuss the amended schedule.

The final, amended schedule must be approved by the Pac-12 Directors of Athletics late July or early August.

REGULAR SEASON START DATES – Plan on playing on Wednesday the first week of league. Television may move your opening game to Thursday. You will know by late July or early August whether you are opening league on Wed or Thur.
